The following answers are in response to questions regarding the Request for Qualifications for Website Redesign and Development posted on March 14, 2022. Based on the submission of these questions, the deadline for response submission has been extended.

Q1. Do you need the actual proposal and numbers for rebuilding the website or is the first need the qualifications to see if the company is qualified to build a website of this scale?

A. You may provide the proposal, including the cost of the proposed work, but that information will not affect the evaluation of the RFQ.

Q2. Do you have specific needs for Usability Testing or do you want to know what can be suggested/provided in this area?

A. We do not have specific needs for Usability Testing but are interested in what can be suggested or provided in this area.
